Autodata 3.18 Full Installer (Autodata 3.18 download free | Autodata 3.18 full setup download).Q: nginx timeout issue I am using nginx 1.4.1 with php-fpm 7.1 and I have a quite large application that takes 2 or 3 seconds when hitting it with the browser. It is a C++ application and it loads an object graph (that is 2 or 3 megabytes of data), builds the graph and then passes the object graph to the client. I installed nginx on another server (with 1 GB RAM) and it works much better. The thing is, Nginx is using 80% of the RAM and when I kill the nginx process with kill -9, it starts taking more and more RAM again. When I run top, it says the memory used by nginx is taking 122324K (12 MB) and the memory used by php-fpm is 253576K. I don't understand why nginx takes so much RAM, even if it is idle. It is just connecting to the db and can be idle for hours without consuming RAM, even though it has multiples php-fpm instances running. I added this on the nginx.conf: user nginx; worker_processes auto; php_admin_value open_basedir "C:\xampp\htdocs\prova"; php_value include_path "C:\xampp\php\PEAR" "C:\xampp\php\PEAR\PEAR" And this on the php.ini: memory_limit = 1024M max_execution_time = 600 output_buffering = 4096 zlib.output_compression = Off My question is, what can I do to make this better? Is there anything that I can do to speed up nginx? Note: I have already tried to play with: worker_connections 1024 A: It is the configuration of the memory management in PHP, what is in the php.ini?
