Testo: The living just smiles and laughs Every day they go to work and make the scenes They get paid up the wazoo but they don't feel alive They will give more for more And this is a game They play at night When the things they fear Are there all around Out of the corner of their eyes They see it's lurking Now it's closing in Time to run They think they know their place Their place is not In the sun It's in the grass Where the roses grow And the nightingale's Song is heard They don't play this game in the dead of day They have a job And they must do it Or it's straight to hell They're strong but they're not armed They just pull the fire alarm They're strong but they're not armed They just pull the fire alarm They've got the fear They're strong but they're not armed They just pull the fire alarm

The problem of chloroform exposure. Chloroform is an organic compound that has been used as a general anaesthetic. Current guidelines recommend the use of a minimum 15 mg exposure in the delivery room to reduce the risk of maternal or fetal toxicity. A chloroform exposure above 20 mg/min, however, has been associated with adverse perinatal outcome. The reasons for this are unclear. The purpose of this review is to describe the current evidence regarding the safety of chloroform exposures above 20 mg/min and to provide the anaesthetist with information to help them in their decision making during pregnancy. Studies are listed in order of quality. It is obvious from this review that there are insufficient data to clarify whether more than 20 mg/min of exposure is safe, but the available data suggest a positive association between more than 20 mg/min of exposure and adverse perin

Great alternative to the Windows 10 Update 1709 Registry tweak
Pros Cons The Windows 10 Anniversary Update came out last year, and with it, the ability to turn Cortana off was removed from the Registry. Luckily for us, a simple Registry tweak called "Cortana Switcher" helps make the process a whole lot easier for those who want to disable Cortana. The program, which works as an open-source project, allows users to turn Cortana off and on without requiring any third-party software or the Registry editing required for the Windows 10 Anniversary Update. "Cortana Switcher" is remarkably simple to use, as it lets you turn Cortana on or off, or toggle it back on if it was just disabled. The program window notifies you when it is done, but you will have to restart your computer in order to make the changes take effect. Searching the web isn't completely disabled, though, as the local file searching feature isn't entirely removed from Windows. For those who don't have experience with editing the Registry, simply double-clicking the "Cortana Switcher" icon opens a Registry editor that makes it really simple to disable Cortana and then reboot your computer for the changes to take effect. If that sounds a little too technical, don't worry, it can be a little overwhelming at first, but the steps are straightforward and easy to follow. Cortana Switcher is an open-source project, meaning that you can access the code to see exactly how the program works. The entire source code is available here, and the issue tracker is also accessible if you want to report any bugs or have suggestions. In short, this little program is free to use, works without the Registry tweaking required to disable Cortana, and is highly recommended for those who want to disable Cortana without worrying about their privacy being compromised. If you do decide to tweak the Windows Registry manually, however, "Cortana Switcher" is a great tool to use, as it has a simple interface and makes it easy to do the Registry editing.
