[VISH]{}-subspace and $\delta:E\rightarrow V$ is a linear

The young German warned the counter-revolutionaries that the working class was engaged in a global struggle with this enemy. "One day," said Marx, "they will come to kill our children." Seventy-five years after the death of Marx, the social and international economic system is even more fragile than it was at the time. It is the "capitalist market," which even at this time is such a deadly plague in so many nations. The environment and the ecological system are already in disintegration as a result of capitalist development. The climate is changing. There is food and water shortage. Millions of people are being driven from their homes. In every nation, nations are being at war with one another. The present confrontation of the U.S. and Russia over Ukraine is only the latest act in a long chain of imperialist maneuvers around the world. The strategic importance of the Ukrainian economy is directly related to the existence of the Russian state. As Stalin wrote in 1927, "Russia without a strong state is doomed to be humiliated." A century after Marx, the Russian Revolution of February 1917 in Russia was the first great expression of that struggle, the first powerful "social revolution" in world history. Marx and his close associates, Russian revolutionaries Vladimir Lenin and Josef Stalin, play a central part in all of the struggles in which the working class is today engaged.
