FIFA 22 will also feature expanded highlights which allow coaches to create their own highlights and more extensive match analysis features and visualisation features as part of a further push to educate players on real-life aspects of the sport. There is also the introduction of "Disconnected Coaches Mode", allowing coaches to create and save more than 15 short, four-minute videos (or more in later versions of the game) to submit directly to FIFA.com to share their coaching approaches with other coaches. Below are some additional high-level details on some of the major gameplay enhancements to FIFA 22:

Kick-Off Experience Changes The new "Dynamic Kick-Off Animation" allows players to control a series of events that trigger the game to launch from a deep, deep free-kick position. Players can launch the ball further and deeper, or they can run forward to release a swift, long-range pass to teammates. Different positions on the pitch will launch the ball at different distances, allowing coaches to employ a variety of kick-off strategies. Players have more options to exploit the opponent's kick-off strategy. All players will participate in this new animation, regardless of their position in the match. When in possession, an attacking midfielder, for example, can choose to run on ahead of the striker and turn towards the goal, or he can attempt to lead the move by turning back and playing into a space in front of the striker. Such subtle decisions become much more relevant in the context of DTM and in the opening moments of a new match.

Soccermetrics The addition of a soccermetrics engine will allow players to share their game data with others and will further help coaches build their teams. Soccermetrics, which is in development, will be integrated into the offensive, defensive and goalkeeping statistics shown during match analysis. The statistical analysis features for FIFA 22 include: Save, Loading and Exiting Your Footballlogger Your career history will be saved from previous matches. These histories will be shared across all platforms. This enables players to save detailed information such as goals, key passes and chances created. The historian can create and save multiple career histories and use the integrated career statistics to predict potential match and career statistics. Detailed and Easy-to-Read Match Analysis The match analysis features will be improved for coaches who want to dive into game data in greater detail. These improvements include

The Vikings are in the middle of what appears to be a magical season, and the San Diego faithful are planning on seeing it for the first time at Qualcomm Stadium. The Vikings have the NFL's best record at 5-1, leading the league in points allowed (11.6 per game) and scoring defense (14.6), and they are a strong first choice to emerge as Super Bowl XLVII champions. They also are at home this weekend against the Chargers, but it's a tough ticket. San Diego ranks ninth in the NFL with 25.6 points per game, and they are a nice challenge for the Vikings. "They are a good football team," Vikings coach Mike Zimmer said. "They are playing well." The Vikings are 7-0 at home this season, including 6-0 against divisional opponents, and the Chargers have lost their last seven games at Qualcomm Stadium. San Diego is coming off a 30-24 victory over Seattle last week, while the Vikings have won four straight. "We're starting to feel more comfortable," tight end Kyle Rudolph said. "But there's nothing that's over with. That's why we're saying we're starting to feel more comfortable
