The second main story of Mystic Destinies: Serindipity of Aeons, this is a story of a childhood friend and a girl who shares a powerful connection. In Mystic Destinies: Serindipity of Aeons, players will have to take part in a challenge between Takumi, a boy in high school, and Tsubasa, a girl in her 20s, who share a true friendship. This is a story about their developing relationship after meeting each other as children. Takumi was raised by Professor Yasu, the brother of Tsubasa, and he went to high school in a town called Neodream. Takumi is a brave and charismatic boy, almost too brash for his own good. He is a regular at parties and loves to spend time with his friends. But he has a secret: he has been missing a few days' worth of memories. On a chance meeting with Tsubasa after this "missing time", Takumi meets a beautiful girl, Tsubasa. Takumi and Tsubasa together try to solve a puzzling case, hunting for clues within the fantasy world of Aoi, which seems to be experiencing a massive cataclysm. From the neighboring town of Kasunodoma, Tsubasa went to visit the school where Takumi had been attending since he was a child. Tsubasa asks Takumi to go with her, but he refuses, and ends up seeing her off at the train station. Tsubasa sets off in search of Takumi with nothing but her high school uniform on. Takumi is a complete opposite of Tsubasa. Whenever Tsubasa gets excited, she rushes her speech, but with Takumi, everything's peaceful and deliberate. When Tsubasa takes on a serious fight, Takumi tries to calm her down or diffuse the situation. He may be a bit to the right for her taste, but he also helps her out in case she needs it. Tsubasa and Takumi are surrounded by different struggles: the mafia is after them, and so are the rumors about Tsubasa being a vampire. Who is she really? What is the secret? These are just some of the questions that Takumi will face as he's drawn into Tsubasa's world, and we will try to find the answers to them all as he travels through the world of Aoi. While writing the story, we felt

What's new in For Runner Night:

The opening track from Broken Beyond Despair, the new album from German noisy aggression metallers SHINRAI. The track comes in at 9:28 and is accompanied by two b-sides. Those are a pair of 5:19 threats from "Killer Species TKO" and one is another cover of a classic CINDERMUND track from 1994, the "Digestion Of Slow Girl." Enjoy. The RUSH of raw metal, with a healthy dose of the rock 'n' roll era mixed with street swagger, gives way to a nostalgic, masterful vocal style - one full of emotion. On its debut full length debut «Dead To This World», out now via Viking Records, SHINRAI delivers a powerful collection of dark, heavy and melodic metal. "Shooting Buddha"- opening track - represents the spirit and power of the band, with a special insight to the Hong Kong lifestyle SHINRAI has been living for years. "... more info The Walk is DARK and DIRTEIRT. The album consists entirely of 4-5 minute power songs, arranged in a order almost completely out of their instrumental break. The result is extremely intriguing, very aggressive, and catchy, throughout. "Casablanca"... more info SHINRAI is no stranger to the underground metal scene. The band is composed of Christian "Tomy" Waruth (vocals/guitars), Alex "Yaokai" Feig (bass), Robert "Robbo" Griesbauer (drums) and Wolfgang "Wolfy" Sauer (guitars). Their previous releases in 2009 on the Russian label BLACK BAMBA, "Gold" and "Dirt", ranked high for the whole band to finally be a great metal band to be heard from. "THE WALK" is the first release from the 18 month 2014 - 2015 recording sessions that rolled out their next GOLDEN TIMES ALBUM, "Dead to This World"... more info SHINRAI - Dead To This World Submit new songs to shairv.com and all the best ETS players will check them out. Iceland, picturesque island in the Atlantic Ocean. There is a magical quality to the natural beauty of its landscape. The people are warm and welcoming, the natural resources are plentiful and the surrounding ocean is as clear and blue as the sky. Life here, on the ground, is really simple. It's hard to imagine how anyone could want to leave, but that is exactly what is happening. You look out at the horizon and see the blue waters of the Atlantic, and you don't like the idea of leaving, but there is a calling that you can't ignore, a dream that calls to you. A dream of adventure, a dream of exploration, a dream of discovery. In these days of science and technology you find yourself in a time of magic and myth. A time of legend and story, a time of awe and wonder. Your dream takes you from the modern world to the ancient past. And you are still dreaming. This is your dream. This is where you can begin. As you walk along the beach you see people, men and women, young and old. They say, "Hey, be careful there, the water is cold" or "Is that the footprint of a bear?" They call you by name. "Hello, Robert." They say, "We've never seen such a large group of tourists in Iceland before." And then they say, "The cold is getting to you, don't come back soon." You, Robert, you feel the cold. Ice is creeping up your back, and you know you need to get back to the warmth of the hotel. You step back into the full embrace of the hotel, into the heat, the warmth, the safety and security of the elevator. And then the doors open on a world that you have never seen before. Man are you in for a surprise. The great Icelandic adventure awaits.
