Nephilim Saga is a group of mercenaries hired to defend the west bank of New Reno from the mutating creations, called the nephilim, from the east. What would normally be a job for soldier is now turning into a mission for death which has no end!

What's new in Nephilim Saga v1.8.1?

- saved game file compatibility - cities now don't all with the same ID and there's no more corrupted "A" to "C" map.
- Edited the "RULES" and "LOAD GAME UI" (selection) files so there's little or no graphics when the game file is loaded.
- Game won't crash when you have several "groups" of npcs in the same area thanks to some small fixes done by RedBaron.
- A bug has been fixed that prevent NPCs to run when you're in their area (that's right, they won't flee when there's an opponent nearby).
- A bug that prevent an enemy from running when he is shot has been solved.

Instructions to run the mod:

- Save any game before running this mod!

If you wish to change the restricted areas you may do so by editing your "SensiD.ini" file.

- Go to "C:\Users\Public\Documents\Fallout3" and create a folder "Fallout3Content" inside of that folder.

What's new:

and Key, An Exploration of Genre, Nonsupernatural There was a time when the main attraction at a store called Cedar Falls was the seemingly fabulous Oriental murals on the outside walls. They were done in large ovals by an artist named Alice Odutola. Alice was from Nigeria, but her canvases were difficult to find and were sold only by Bay Area Thrift shops. I had at first thought that these murals were what could be called creation deities, but this is not the case. The stories behind the murals differed and told the start of the creation of various animals. Mary in one mural will read the story of how the first whale came to be. Mary did this multiple times and people who visited the store took turns. At the end everyone in the room together read the story. Even people who had never heard of a whale listened intently to the story and when it was finished they were sorry they had not paid to hear it first. This was how I discovered the oriental sections of the store was probably the best place to visit during the summer holidays. On Saturdays Alice's art had been displayed and I loved to watch old ladies walk up to the display like museum cases and take a closer look at the artwork. They would then take their place in line in front of the cash register. As far as I know, this was the only place of any kind in Cedar Falls that was open on Saturday. Generally on Saturday the other gift store in Cedar Falls was open to sell both Chinese and Jewish merchandise to the people of Cedar Falls. I never had any interest in the Chinese or Jewish merchandise. This was the era of the Cold War and I was an American Indian of Standing Rock Indian Reservation from an undisclosed location in the state of Nebraska. It was even in the spirit of the era to wear Native American clothes. I did not see how you could go wrong when you dressed in floppy Homespons and reindeer antlers. The most exciting part of my week were with the Sundays when Alice would open her store back up after being closed by the Summer School. The children of Cedar Falls had their eyes on it once again. This is where the parents came to buy gifts for the kids of the town. I'd watch the line stretch out in front of the
