"A new, highly realistic physics engine, refined artificial intelligence, and deep game mechanics that combine to deliver the most true-to-life gameplay in the history of the series," said David Rutter, Creative Director at EA Canada. "FIFA is the most popular football game in the world, and it is time to take it to the next level in each of the game's pillars." "FIFA's biggest challenge is to ensure it continues to be the most realistic game in the world," said Peter Nanos, Executive Vice President at SEGA. "Developing a game that combines high-intensity animations, advanced physics, and deep game mechanics remains incredibly challenging. We want FIFA to be the best football game in the world, and it is only through the hard work and dedication of our teams that we can achieve that goal." Also, in addition to the usual FIFA enhancements that EA has been adding to their yearly game, we have also been seeing them bring back old features that were not used in a really long time. These features include "The Community Creation Suite" and "Club and Player Insights". This is not to say that these features are going to be left out of the game, but they will definitely be more of a bonus than a feature that you can do normally and have not seen before in a long time. This year will include a few other features that have been added in some previous versions of the game. The addition of female bodies in FIFA 21 was very well received and makes for an interesting addition to the game. FIFA now allows for the ability to choose playable female players, which means that you can play as female players in the game without needing to make a manual switch when you are using certain teams. It will allow female characters to play as either forwards or midfielders and also be able to pass the ball (although the ball will not travel with female players, but will also allow for the possibility of female players to play as goalies, which we have not seen in the past). Update on The Community Creation Suite FIFA Ultimate Team has received some amazing feedback from the community to help improve the experience, and the overhaul of the user interface is one of them. Now, when you join a team with the Community Creation Suite, you will have the option to swap out the default user interface for a customizable, immersive experience, with a customizable layout and personal photo. These features were added back in FIFA 20, but not all players had the opportunity to use them. Now, with the Community Creation Suite,
