Project Colletta Registration Code [Mac/Win]

In the past decades, IT organizations have evolved from managing IT infrastructure to business applications, that is, from purely technical to business-centric. These organizations are challenged to understand the interdependencies and to synchronize activities across their IT infrastructure and their business-centric applications. Through this knowledge gap, IT and business leaders miss out on opportunities and wastes time because they are unaware of the impact of IT activity on the business application. This results in sub-optimal business decisions and erroneous business processes. We are therefore proposing the adoption of a new concept that aims at: - Supporting business application development in a standards-driven manner - Facilitating the real-time synchronization of IT and business activities In order to support this new concept, we have developed a solution, called "Project Colletta". Project Colletta facilitates the synchronization of IT and business activities through the use of projects. Projects are used to structure and manage the activities of business-centric software development projects. The key idea is that all activities are executed within the context of a project, and that activities are structured through the use of project tasks. Activities are monitored asynchronously, that is, without the need to wait for their completion. One advantage of this new approach is that it provides the capability to make decisions and change activities during the execution of a project. Since activities are performed through the use of projects, Project Colletta facilitates the management of the organization of work (job) and the management of activities (task). It also facilitates the management of the assets and resources that are required for the execution of the project. Project Colletta enables IT organizations to efficiently support business application development through the utilization of the standard IT process of lifecycle management. This new concept and solution is based on the adoption of a new standard. Since July 2008, the IEEE P2413.1 Project Management Standard (Project Management), is out for public comment.
