Long noncoding RNA AFAP1-AS1 expression is upregulated in breast cancer. Increasing evidence has linked long noncoding RNAs to cancer. Here, we tested the expression of AFAP1-AS1 and its clinical significance in breast cancer. qRT-PCR was used to detect the expression of AFAP1-AS1 in breast cancer cell lines and breast cancer tissues. The relationship between AFAP1-AS1 expression and the clinicopathological characteristics of the patients was analyzed. AFAP1-AS1 expression was remarkably higher in breast cancer tissues than that in adjacent normal breast tissues. The expression of AFAP1-AS1 was positively correlated with the TNM stage and tumor size. In this study, we also found that breast cancer cells expressed more AFAP1-AS1 than breast normal cells. Furthermore, high AFAP1-AS1 expression in breast cancer was significantly associated with poor prognosis for breast cancer patients. In conclusion, our study demonstrated that AFAP1-AS1 was a new and powerful biomarker for breast cancer and a novel promising therapy target. Moving Pictures Revisiting White Castle's Best, the Famous Secret Menu The minute I see a White Castle hamburger on the menu, I'm instantly intrigued. My interest in their secret menu is piqued by the fact that the burgers are always specialty combinations that the restaurant's "Hound Dogs" have worked on. The secret menu items are always exceptional, from the big, juicy burgers to the fried chicken and the ridiculously good po'boys that the restaurant offers. The secret menu items are always exceptional, from the big, juicy burgers to the fried chicken and the ridiculously good po'boys that the restaurant offers. So when I returned to White Castle for the 40th anniversary of its secret menu, I was thrilled to learn that the chain had expanded the menu further than ever! Earlier this year, White Castle gave local residents in Detroit an opportunity to have their pictures taken with either of their burgers on the secret menu for free. Ever since, the restaurant has been giving out free hamburgers to people in the area. As the crew
