leukemia in children with neurofibromatosis 1. Patients with neurofibromatosis 1 (NF1) have a predisposition to cancers, particularly leukemia. We report a 7-year-old girl with NF1 who presented with acute non-lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL). She had no history of leukemia and had no manifestation of NF1. A physical examination was significant for a cafe au lait spot. The initial work-up demonstrated multiple non-adherent leukocytic elements and a non-lymphocytic predominance in the bone marrow. Flow cytometry revealed a population of cells with a FAB-type ALL classification. The patient had no remission after 4 induction courses with high doses of cytosine arabioside and prednisone, and was dependent on marrow-supplemented red blood cell support and platelet transfusions.Esterified phosphatidylethanolamine plasmalogens and their distribution in brain cell membranes of inbred mouse strains. Esterified phosphatidylethanolamines (PE) were quantified in brain cell membranes from inbred mouse strains. The PE percentages ranged between 7.3 and 13.7% depending on the strain. Choline acetyltransferase (ChAT) and acetylcholinesterase (AChE) activities were higher in some strains than in others. At the microscopic level, silver-impregnated thin sections revealed differences in the distribution of chromaffin granules and in the density of the ChAT reaction in certain strains. Thus the two C57-strains studied appear to be more phagocytic than the CBA and BALB/c strains. will be paid in weekly instalments.
