Performance improvements are minor, but there are some new tools. The most significant is the user-defined filters. These filters are accessed through a new Filter popup, which was impossible before. You can save your own filters, apply them to Photo Strip Sets, and finally import other people's filter sets and apply them. There are other improvements such as the new Rotate tool, which is now more like Photoshop Elements' Panorama tool. Light Map has also been improved and is much faster, thanks to a new internal preview engine. There's the well-known New Layer Clip and new Fill and Stroke Style tools. Auto Levels and Smart Fix have also been given additional capabilities. A new Liquify tool has replaced the Smart Brush tool.
